As we retrieve that information from our 'smart' friends on social media, information from a trusted source is altered along with the information we already know. Other than political impacts, social media has also contributed to the youth voting patterns in the 2016 presidential election with pictures of thousands of teens in Florida voting alongside Trump's campaign (Kewa 2001). During the Presidential election, Donald Trump promised to create 25 million jobs by eliminating the corporate tax rate from 35% down to 15%. In reference to social media, jobs are created with the ability to make people work for free in order to advertise and promote their product to a targeted community. This is one of the reasons social media has been created. It is a collective idea of becoming a marketer on the internet. All (social media) are affected by globalization. Specifically, it is the effects of communication and new technologies. Communication has enabled social media platforms to facilitate global information sharing. New information technologies have provided a globally connected networked society. The information technology (IT) enables an individual or a company to access the software or the internet in different languages from other countries to learn a new information technology system. Thus, it affects the economics and the politics of the people as well. So far, people are able to communicate to the other person with the help of social media, by creating a network community on the internet. The media has played an
